Oshkosh-based painter Leif Larson will be the featured artist for the month of December at the Elisha D. Smith Public Library in Menasha, debuting his "Good Morning Bohemia," a complex, mural-size piece.

In conjunction with his exhibition, Larson will host the program Making Art All Day @ the Library from 9 a.m. to 3 p.m. Dec. 3, when he will be doing a live painting. This is an opportunity to see the artistic process as it evolves from a blank canvas to a live imaginative story. During the program, the artist will be open to questions or discussions about art.

A podcast episode, a feature audio at Menasha Public Library, will be produced by librarian Colin McGinnis where the audience can hear Larson share his experiences. The episodes can be found at www.menashalibrary.org/podcast, www.soundcloud.com/mplpodcast, or on iTunes.

Larson documented the creation of his acrylic on canvas on a four-part video production that is available on his website: www.leiflarson.com. Prints will be available for signature during his Saturday visit. For more information, visit www.menashalibrary.org or contact Librarian Ana Maria Acosta at 920-967-3690.
